No, I want to do this. I have to do it. I can't back out of the operation now just because of a little complication like this. What kind of person would that make me after all he's done for me? He gave me a chance at a new life and if this is how I gotta pay him back then so be it. I know John and he wouldn't hesitate to donate an arm and a leg if he could. If this is the best shot we've got then I say let's take it! I can't let him down.
