

PATIENT

You could've just left me there. I didn't need all the pomp and circumstance (imitating siren) wee woo wee woo. It was too much way too much, especially for someone like me. (BEAT) Just another bill collector for me to dodge now, thanks for that. Bringing me back to this, life or whatever the hell it is I'm going through and now things are worse! Look around no one's here for me! I've been here for two days already. If any of them cared they would have come by now. You should have just left me!
