

DETECTIVE

I'm done with this good cop charade and you can drop the act to. You and I both know that I could have your ass shoved away in a storage locker at the drop of a hat. Don't try me again. (BEAT) You've got 5 minutes to start talking or the three of us are going for a little ride down to that block of yours. Sure I'll catch some heat for being over there but your guys can't do much to me if they want to maintain the status quo. Can't say the same for you though. What do you think they'll do with you once I'm done parading your sorry ass around town huh? You want to take that chance?